

Abstract of the Disclosure:

A vertical or lateral semiconductor component derives a signal from a high load voltage. This signal can be used directly for driving the semiconductor component or, alternatively, a control device.

LDP\vs